History

History

Ukraine became a member of the International Ice Hockey Federation in May 6th, 1992

Ukraine women played its first game in 1992 in a qualification game against Latvia for participation in the 1993 European ice hockey championships. The games was part of a four team qualification series against Italy, Latvia & Netherlands.

Due to the withdrawals of Italy and the Netherlands the series was reduced to three games series between Ukraine and Latvia which Ukraine won two games to one. The following year Ukraine competed at the 1993 Women's European Ice Hockey Championships

They played five games in the Group B, They finished the tournament with one win out of their four games played

Ukraine women competed at the 1995 Women European Championships.

They were placed in the Group B and went on to lose all four of their games. This was the last time the Ukraine women played.
